Ethical policy for journals

Home > Ethical policy for journals

This policy should be read in conjunction with our guidelines for authors and reviewers. This policy applies to all IOP Publishing Limited ("IOPP") owned journals and to those journals published with partner organisations that are listed in the appropriate section below. All corresponding authors are requested to confirm they have read and understand this policy when they submit to our journals.

IOPP is a member of the Committee for Publication Ethics (COPE), and apply the principles of publication ethics outlined in the COPE Core Practices. We take publishing ethics very seriously and accept our responsibility to maintain the integrity of the scientific record as much as possible.

Unbiased consideration is given to all manuscripts offered for publication regardless of the race, gender, religious belief, ethnicity, citizenship, political philosophy, sexual orientation, age or reputation of the authors.

In order to legally comply with applicable International sanctions, IOPP checks the EU, UK and US sanctions lists for the names and affiliated institutions of corresponding authors from specific territories where a paper is submitted to IOPP publications and the publications of some of its partners. If that author and/or institution is on one or more of those lists then IOPP will have to ask for the paper to be withdrawn. In addition, to meet financial sanctions, IOPP is unable to manage payments from certain countries for which there are banking restrictions. Where this is applicable, IOPP will notify the corresponding author of the implications.

• Happened just recently, where a paper submission from colleagues was rejected - what a shame !

The status of disarmament negotiations in the current international contest will be presented by the speaker, who already made a presentation at the Forum in November 2023. He will be available to interact with the participants after his talk.

Some of the main topics treated in the presentation, and possibly discussed with the participants, are:

- has the risk of a nuclear weapon use increased recently, as a consequence of the deterioration of the international situation?
- how can we move out of the current impasse and the current situation?
- how can we escape the general trend of militarization also in science ?
- how to deal with increased dual-use classification in science?

Discussion will be under Chatham House rule: participants are free to use the information received, but neither the identity nor the affiliation of the speaker(s), nor that of any other participant, may be revealed.

Ambassador L. Bencini is the Permanent Representative of Italy to the UN Conference on Disarmament; he served as President of the Conference in the session January-February 2025. Previously, he has served in Rome, Rio de Janeiro, Oslo, Moscow, St. Petersburg and now Geneva. He has dealt with United Nations issues at various stages of his career - from human rights to peacekeeping and peacebuilding, from UN reform to sustainable development.
